

18-Cent Tax Rate Boost For County

By BOB HEMINGWAY
San Mateo County property owners are faced with an 18-cent tax rate increase this year after the Board of Supervisors wound up six days of public hearings by trimming an estimated $4,300,584 from the proposed 1976-77 county budget of $174,629,778.

The amount actually cut by the board amounted to $4,021,584. However, County Manager M.D. Tarshes said that "several hundred thousand dollars" of unanticipated revenue from the operation of Chope Community Hospital will be forthcoming to help lower the budget.

Tarshes said that Department of Health and Welfare officials are in the process of calculating the revenue. Pressed by the board for some type of a figure, Tarshes gave a "conservative estimate" of $300,000.

Board Chairman William H. Royer said that the board will finish up some loose ends at its regular meeting Tuesday.

With the increased Chope Hospital income calculated, the board trimmed about 16 cents from the anticipated tax rate increase, leaving an anticipated rate of $1.85 per $100 of assessed valuation, as compared to last year's rate of $1.66.

The net effect on the tax bill of a property owner with a $75,000 home would be an increase of nearly $34, from $311 last year to $345 to finance county government.

"We cut off as much as we could," commented Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald.

He noted that San Mateo County still will have the lowest tax rate of any county in the Bay Area, and one of the lowest rates in the state, while continuing to "provide the best services."

However, Fitzgerald reminded, the county portion is only 19 per cent of the total tax bill, with collections from a multitude of other taxing agencies making the county's tax bills the third highest in the state.

He cited an example of the County Board of Education's intention to proceed with a $4.5 million outdoor education facility near La Honda.

"It kills me," the supervisor stated. "You're going to have to pay for it," he told those present to watch the board wind up its budget hearings.

Fitzgerald said he is going to "get together" in September with representatives of the county's 96 taxing agencies and try to begin development of a coordination of services and activities which would lead to economies in government and lower taxes.

Tarshes originally estimated that it would take a tax rate increase of 33 cents, to $1.99, to finance the budget he proposed. During budget hearings he said that the amount would increase by perhaps two cents because of state legislation which exempted imports and exports from the tax on the unsecured roll.

The board had to add $244,050 to the budget Friday to finance premium payments for malpractice insurance at the county's medical facilities. Executive Assistant Max Meyer said that the county's insurance carrier had declined to accept the county's plan to self-insure on the first $1 million of malpractice insurance.

The board also may add another $123,154 next Thursday if it awards a contract to Medevac, Inc., a Southern California firm, to provide paramedic/ambulance service under the county's Emergency Medical Services plan.

There were appeals on the final hearing day for the board to trim more from the budget in order to bring down the tax rate to last year's level.

Larry Armstrong, executive director of the Governmental Research Council, while applauding the board "for what you have been able to do," proposed that the budget be returned to department heads to "reflect reductions across the board" and lower the

METRIC PITCHMAN

Richard E. Meyers of Pacifica holds aloft the tools of his trade, a bumper strip and information about conversion to the metric system. Meyers reports resistance to the federally mandated conversion among Americans more comfortable with inches and feet, pounds and ounces.

Start Converting —You'll Have To

By JANET REINKA
Sears, Otis Elevator, IBM, the North Dakota Parks Department, Weyerhaeuser, and even the City of Sunrise, Fla., have all jumped on the bandwagon, and it's getting crowded.

Everybody, it seems, has been seized by the religion called "Metric," and there's been more converting going on than you'd see at a revival meeting.

Scientists, engineers, big business, even labor unions have been caught up in the spirit and are falling in line behind a plan, signed Dec. 23 by President Ford, to voluntarily convert the United States to the metric system.

The goal for complete conversion by manufacturers is 1978, after which the Common Market in Europe no longer will accept non-metric products.

But there has been one important holdout — hard-headed, unyielding, yard-sticking, foot-dragging you and me.

We just don't want to change. And that's putting it "mildly."

"Resistance to change is a formidable thing," Richard E. Meyers of Pacifica diplomatically put it.

Meyers, a consulting engineer, is one of 200 persons nationwide on the National Bureau of Standards' speakers bureau trying to batter down that resistance and educate the public about the metric system.

He contends that U.S. industry could not have held out as a "non-metric island" much longer. Only four countries — Brunei, Burma, Liberia and Yemen — either do not use the system or are not in the process of switching.

Proponents also say the system, with its neat units of 10 and no fractions, is easier to teach and simpler to use.

But those arguments don't hold water with the average consumer or the small businessman, according to Meyers.

A woman who has dieted into a size 12 dress doesn't want to suddenly balloon into a metric 40.

A housewife buying produce might feel like she's shopping in a foreign country when she buys a 4½ kilogram bag of potatoes. —See METRIC, Page 19

Transition Takes Some Looking Back

Metric advocates urge people to get used to the system by working with it, and not referring back to the English system.

But, even they will admit it's easier to get a "foot-hold" on the system with some everyday references to the English one.

Davenport Appointed To Board

Dean Davenport, a private investigator, has been named by the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to fill out the unexpired term of Peter McMillan on the Board of Supervisors.

McMillan resigned for personal reasons soon after a recall movement against Commission Chairman Jack McClosky failed last June.

Davenport was chosen over Mike Handlin, who lost in a race for McClosky's post in the June election.

McClosky spoke to the supervisors at a hearing last month protesting consideration of Handlin. He said it would be "absurd" to appoint the person who had opposed him in the unsuccessful recall effort.

Extortion: Two Teens Sentenced

Two teen-aged extortionists have been sentenced to indefinite terms at the Glenwood Camp for Boys in La Honda for their roles in a shakedown racket at Daly City high schools.

The pair, aged 15 and 16 years old, operated separately. Both had been extorting money from students at high schools by threatening the victims with bodily harm unless they paid up.

Police arrested the two boys — one a Daly City resident and the other from Broadmoor — after several victims, at the urging of their parents, came for-

County Manager Resigns Garbage Strike Talks Continue in Daly City

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Negotiators on both sides in the current Daly City scavenger strike were scheduled to meet again Tuesday morning in an attempt to settle the two-day-old walkout, which started late Sunday.

A four-hour meeting between representatives of the Daly City Scavenger Co., Local 350, Sanitary Employees Union and federal mediator Tom Cudrye in San Francisco Monday afternoon failed to bring the two sides together.

A special meeting was called for Tuesday night by Mayor Pro Tempore Albert Teglia to review the strike situation.

City Manager David Rowe said Mayor Anthony Giammona, vacationing in Hawaii, has been informed of the strike.

The mayor is not expected to return to Daly City for the special meeting, Rowe said.

Three years ago, when garbage employees struck for higher wages, Giammona cancelled a Hawaii vacation and returned to participate in the talks.

Meanwhile, attorney Paul Hupf, a former city councilman, who is representing the scavenger company, has charged that the scavengers have not been given the opportunity by Robert Morales, secretary-treasurer of the union, to vote via secret ballot on the company's latest written offer.

Morales has not been available to comment on the allegations. Repeated attempts to contact him have failed.

Pickets patrol one of Daly City Scavenger Co. properties.

The offer was made in writing on July 23 and included a 61-cents-per-hour pay hike the first contract year, 55 cents the second year and 55 cents for the third year, Hupf said.

It also offered a five-cent-per-hour increase in the workers' pension fund.

The union has demanded a $3 per hour increase over the next three years. Present scavenger pay is $6.17 per hour.

In all, the union had made some 24 demands on the company, it was learned.

Hupf said most proposals were rejected by the company. Affected by the strike in the Daly City-Broadmoor-Colma areas are 15,000 homes and 6,400 apartments units.

Officials of the company are manning trucks and making pickups at commercial, restaurant, hospital and similar institutions and high density apartment areas.

Rowe said "in all likelihood" garbage bills will have to be adjusted following the strike.

And, if the strike is prolonged, the dump site at Mussel Rock will be open free to the public for dumping.

The City Manager suggested that citizens store garbage in heavy plastic bags, sealed, and keep them in a cool place such as a garage.

All refuse will be picked up at the end of the strike, Rowe said.

Picket lines were thrown up at four scavenger company sites, including the Mussel Rock dump, late Sunday after talks between the company and Local 350, broke off.

It was the second walkout for the scavengers in three years.

The last strike, in 1973, lasted 17 days.

The current walkout follows close on a 28 per cent garbage collection rate increase, authorized last month by the City Council after company officials disclosed they had been operating in the red for several months.

Golden Gate Cemetery Change After Criticism by the Public

By FRANK LAPIERRE

John T. Spelman has been removed as head of Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno, apparently because of mounting public criticism over maintenance conditions there. The Post has learned.

Spelman was relieved of duty as superintendent of the national shrine and transferred to the San Francisco office of the Veterans Administration after published reports of poor grave site conditions within the cemetery appeared last month.

Complaints from survivors who have sons, wives and husbands buried at Golden Gate National Cemetery sparked a congressional hearing on the matter.

In mid-August, Rep. Leo Ryan is to hold an on-site hearing into charges the cemetery has become, as Daly City businessman Vince Merlo says, "A national disgrace and not a national shrine."

Merlo, whose wife is buried at Golden Gate, leveled the initial barrage of criticism there several weeks ago.

Trucks carrying heavy cement vaults were driving across gravesites and, in at least one instance, crashed down into a soldier's grave; vast areas are devoid of grass and rutted with tire tracks; chipped and fallen markers and sunken graves also have been seen.

The condition of Golden Gate National Cemetery came under scrutiny by Ryan's office some two years ago following receipt of similar complaints. At that time, Ryan was told Spelman would be replaced as superintendent at the cemetery.

But Spelman, who lives with his family on the grounds, was not removed — until the latest burst of public complaints.

Spelman was not available for comment on his transfer.

Until a new director is named, the assistant superintendent, Arthur Kerr, has been appointed acting superintendent, according to T. M. Jorgenson, information officer for the Veterans Administration office in San Francisco. Jorgenson said the appointment of a permanent superintendent is expected within 30 days.

Only two weeks before being removed, Spelman, — See CEMETERY, Page 2

Fasanaro Sentencing Set

Aide Enters 'Nolo' Plea

By BOB HEMINGWAY
Matteo V. Fasanaro, former assistant superintendent for business affairs for the San Mateo Community College District, who is under indictment on a charge of accepting a bribe, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) in San Mateo County Superior Court today to an alternate charge of compounding a felony.

Judge Alan W. Haverty, who took the plea, scheduled sentencing for Aug. 31 at 9 a.m. He indicated that he will not sentence the defendant to state prison, although the Penal Code section to which Fasanaro entered a plea provides for penalties ranging up to three years in prison.

Judge Haverty took under submission the motion of Fasanaro's attorney, Lois Scampini, for dismissal of the Grand Jury indictment of Nov. 20, 1973, accusing Fasanaro of accepting a $10,000 bribe in connection with the awarding of a half-million dollar contract to Litton Business Telephone Systems of Sunnyvale for installation of a telephone system at the district's three colleges and its San Mateo headquarters.

In accepting the plea of nolo contendere, Judge Haverty informed the defendant that "the court is required to find you guilty."

Fasanaro had been scheduled to go to trial Aug. 16 on the bribery charge.

The judge reminded Fasanaro that he may withdraw his plea if the court decides, on the basis of a probation report, that a — See AIDE, Page 2

On Thursday night, the South San Francisco Unified School District Board of Trustees will receive a report on an experimental program to deter vandalism on school campuses this summer — and it will probably be complimentary.

But if the board members care to look a little deeper into the summer program, they might find cause for concern.

Since June 21, 20 students have been employed by the Neighborhood Youth Corps program to patrol 10 target campuses.

Assigned to work from 4-9 p.m. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, they are paid $2.30 an hour.

The school district purchased 20 bright-red windbreaker jackets and 10 clipboards for $105 to get the summer patrol program on its feet.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS Director Stan Haney told the board, the plan was to have the students report vandalism that occurs on campuses. In addition, they are to report any suspicious persons to the Police Department.

Despite favorable preliminary reports from district officials, things aren't quite right with the "Students Against Vandalism" project.

This reporter set out to do a story on the experimental project — interviewing the students on patrol, the program supervisor and police personnel.

The intent was to find out just how effective the experimental program has been.

However, inspecting the program was a disappointment.

Some of the hired students on some campuses were playing basketball.

In one instance a student on patrol was mistaken for just another youth — he carried a basketball and wore his own jacket over the red windbreaker the district had provided.

At another campus checked two afternoons last week, there were no signs of students at all.

In some cases, supervisory personnel didn't know why some of the young workers were not on the job. They simply hadn't shown up.

AND ONE PERSON connected with the program said candidly that students at one of the elementary school campuses have turned their five hour work day into a summer-long party — inviting friends to join in.

When the program was presented to the Board of Trustees in June, Haney said patrolling students would not be involved in the physical restraint of any individual.

However, on the first day at the Avalon campus, a student on patrol there reportedly grabbed another youth and held him down until the police arrived. The young man had thrown an object through a classroom window, shattering it.

In the original presentation to the board, students also were to be responsible for picking up litter on campuses. But with litter clearly in sight, some student workers were seen leisurely riding their bikes across campus.

Vandalism is a universal problem for schools. During the period from March 1975 to February 1976, SSFUSD lost $11,665 to vandalism, not including a costly arson fire at Martin School. That amount could have paid for a first-year teacher or text books for the entire district.

During the three summer months, according to Haney, vandalism losses usually are double the school year losses. Vacant school buildings are an easy target for vandals.

OFFICER FRED CARELLI — who has been coordinating the program with the Police Department — said the youth patrol may have had a positive effect at the target schools this summer.

But, the vandals know which campuses are guarded and at what hours. The 12 unpatrolled campuses become an inviting target for vandals, Carelli said.

A case in point is the El Rancho campus. Nearly three quarters of the unpatrolled campus was sprayed with paint on a recent weekend.

In theory, the program is a good one, providing summer jobs for young people who need the money and at the same time making the destructive work of vandals more difficult.

Officials agree with the concept.

"I think the alternatives would require a great deal of expense," said Police Chief James Datzman.

"It's far superior to electronic devices," said Supt. Paul Nielsen.

While some of the young patrolmen are reportedly doing an effective job, others obviously are not. It appears some are taking advantage of a $2.30 an hour job — a job that's a privilege in today's job market.

IF THE PROGRAM IS to be continued, it should be provided at all schools — not just a sprinkling — and students should be required to punch in at time clocks. If 15, 16 and 17-year-old students are mature enough to have a summer job, supported by tax dollars, they certainly are mature enough to handle the responsibilities that go along with it.

Haney pointed out that the program essentially is aimed at providing an educational experience for the young people.

"It develops responsibility in kids in the program," Haney said. "The whole idea is to get the kids involved."

package that the scavengers want. They also are insisting the company contribute more to the pension fund, additional off time, and training in the operation of new equipment.

Hupf voted in 1972 along with Mayor Giammona, and Councilmen McRobert Stewart and the late Bernard J. Lycett to extend the scavenger company's franchise by 10 years — until 1989.

It also was agreed, at the time, that the dump would be deeded over to the city for a coastline park.

Reports published in a Daly City paper last Friday noted that a strike had been "temporarily averted" when federal mediator Jerry Findley decided to sit down and discuss issues with both sides in the labor dispute Monday.

But, the company's 34 employees were told during a Saturday meeting that the walkout would come shortly after the contract expired at midnight Saturday.

It appears to be a case of no contract — no work. City Atty. Albert Polonsky said Polonsky preferred not to call the walkout a strike, despite the fact that pickets with signs paraded up and down in front of the Mussel Rock dump gate, scavenger offices on Mission Street, a corporation yard on Edgeworth, and a nearby parking lot filled with trucks.

Coastside Scavenger Co. drivers were observing the picket lines at the dump.

Company officials were driving loaded trucks into the dump itself.

So far, collections in Pacifica have not been interrupted.

Councilman Victor Kyriakis told The Post shortly after the walkout that he expected the dump would be open to the public if the strike were prolonged.

Kyriakis said the use of plastic garbage bags, something the council approved only last month, would help "ease the situation" of garbage piling up in city streets, as it did during the last strike.

"We're not going to allow our pockets to be picked" by the scavengers, Hupf said. "We think our offer — which is better than that agreed upon by Pacifica's scavengers — is fair and equitable. We are certainly in the ball park."

state prison sentence is warranted.

District Atty. Keith C. Sorenson said the charge to which Fasanaro pleaded was negotiated between his office and Miss Scampini.

The charge is Section 153 of the State Penal Code. It alleges that between Dec. 1, 1972, and Oct. 1, 1973, Fasanaro "did willfully, unlawfully and feloniously, having knowledge of the actual commission of a crime, to wit: did take money and property of another, upon an agreement and understanding to compound and conceal such crimes, and to withhold evidence thereof."

Sorenson said the Penal Code provides a substantial range of sentencing possibilities for the judge after he receives a probation report and becomes familiar with all the facts in the case and the background of the defendant.

"Generally, our purpose in prosecuting is to obtain a certain conviction of a guilty person and afford the court a wide range of discretion," Sorenson said.

"My office made no bargain as far as sentencing is concerned," he added. "We have not agreed he will not go to state prison. That judge did make that commitment, unless there is a determination on the basis of the probation report."

Sorenson said he did not believe the sentence on a conviction of bribery would exceed the three-year maximum provided by the compounding a felony section.

"I'm confident our responsibilities are adequately carried out, and we have not given anything away."

the district attorney stated. "We were prepared to go to trial."

Sorenson said the plea alleviates the necessity of an expensive trial which could have "gone on for months."

Also indicted by the Grand Jury with Fasanaro were four former employees of Litton.

Trial still is pending for two of the men, Brian Selph and Byron Sando. A third defendant, John Barbour, pleaded guilty in connection with the case last year. The fourth defendant, Leonard Mende, is residing in New York.

Fire on Bruno Peak

Daly City firemen were able to halt a fire off the Guadalupe Expressway east of Radio Road on San Bruno Mountain Friday afternoon before the arrival of California Division of Forestry firemen from Belmont.

The fire burned over the top of the hill, pushed by wind gusts of 15 to 20 miles per hour. It covered 10 acres of grass before being confined. The cause is under investigation.

It is the 36th fire on the mountain this year.

Two Jailed In Kidnap

Two Coastside men were to be arraigned in Central District Municipal Court Monday on charges of kidnapping and forcible oral copulation involving a 15-year-old girl.

in a letter to Bruce Christiansen, president of Christy Vault Co., Colma, reprimand Christiansen for allowing his truck drivers to drive over graves with their loads.

Christiansen told The Post Spelman never made any attempts earlier to discourage this practice.

As a matter of fact, according to Christiansen, several of Spelman's field supervisors had encouraged drivers to go directly to graves with their trucks as a means of saving time.

In his letter, Spelman laid down three guidelines: At no time will the delivery truck leave the paved roadway; sufficient time will be allotted your driver to complete his mission; your drivers should ignore and disregard any type of comment and/or suggestion received from cemetery employees other than administrative staff.

"Failure to adhere to item one, above, will result in your driver being placed under arrest and charged with defacing government property. Steps will also be taken to have your vault delivery truck impounded," Spelman warned.

A copy of the letter was sent to the administrator of the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C., and the director of the National Cemetery Service Office in San Francisco.

Christiansen said he had asked Spelman about the letter's stern language after its receipt last month and was told that this guideline was within the authority of a national cemetery superintendent.

ward and complained to police.

Similar tactics have been employed by roving youth gangs at local high schools in recent months and police have begun to crack down hard on them, it was learned.

School officials have pledged full cooperation, police said. The racket and how the young thugs operate was first brought to light by The Post several months ago.

Since that time, there have been five youths — all boys — convicted of extortion in Daly City and sentenced to varying terms at guidance centers.

"We had no inkling," commented Board Chairman William H. Royer.

"It's a great shock to board members. Personally, I've come to have a great deal of respect for you, Marty. I'm looking forward to working with you the next six months."

Tarshes gave no specific reason for his resignation, stating only that, "my wife (Jeannette) and I are looking forward to a period of rest followed by a new, as yet undecided, occupation for me."

Tarshes said he hopes to maintain his residence in San Carlos.

"We both like living here very much," he stated. "I hope my new occupation, whatever it is, will permit us to do that."

Tarshes said that he had been contemplating resigning for "quite a while," that it was just a matter of time as to when he did so.

The county manager said he has no specific plans for his "new occupation" but added "I have some ideas of what I want to do, and I'm open to others."

"One thing I do not plan to do, and that is to be a county manager again," he emphasized.

In retrospect, Tarshes said he feels his major accomplishment as county manager has been to select and appoint "outstanding people to key positions in county government."

Pair Rescued After Crash

Two men, injured and trapped after their four-wheel drive vehicle slid off a road near the top of San Bruno Mountain July 28, were flown out by the sheriff's helicopter after any other rescue units were unable to even spot them.

Taken to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City by an ambulance which had been waiting on a road at the top of the mountain were Andre Cahill, 33, of San Francisco, and Patrick Clancy, 39, of 2795 Dubois Way, South San Francisco, who were described as injured but conscious when Sheriff's Deputies Mike Preston and Mike Burnley found them.

The helicopter was called to the mountain shortly after 2 p.m. in a report a Jeep had rolled over but ground rescue units were unable to sight it.

Preston reported he spotted one of the occupants of the vehicle waving a road flare and Bushley landed nearby.

When it was determined no other four-wheel vehicles were capable of reaching the wreck, Bushley flew the injured men, one at a time, to the ambulance. Two other occupants of the Jeep were uninjured.

Suspect Held in Robbery - Slaying

A San Carlos police officer was credited Monday with apprehending a homicide suspect following a request for assistance from pursuing Redwood City police after a candy store employee was shot to death Saturday night.

Apprehended by Officer Stephen Hall was William Elliot Rucker, 20, an unemployed printer, of 1797 California Drive, Apt. 25, Mountain View.

Rucker has been charged with armed robbery and murder under special circumstances in the slaying of Bonnie Jean Baumann, 55, of 630 Mayfair Ave., South San Francisco, police said today.

The incident began at approximately 7 p.m. Saturday, when a passerby noted a man seated in a car at 616 Canyon Road armed and counting money.

The passerby called the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office, who notified Redwood City police, who began a search for the car and subject as a routine suspicious circumstances investigation.

A sheriff's office helicopter took off from San Carlos Airport, police reported, and the aerial spotter quickly located a car matching the suspect vehicle on Canyon Road.

Hall reported the man became apprehensive, and suddenly fled on foot. Hall said he and an unidentified San Mateo County Sheriff's Deputy gave chase, with Hall finally tackling the man in a dirt field on Canyon Road.

Shortly after Rucker's arrest, a customer entering the See's Candy Store at 2370 Broadway, Redwood City, found the body of Mrs. Baumann.

One Injured in Four-Car Crash

One man was seriously injured and two others escaped without a scratch in a grinding four-car crash on Skyline Boulevard near Westridge Avenue in Daly City at about 2:30 Thursday morning.

Gary Polifka, 30, of 134 Longview Drive, suffered a fractured skull when his car collided with another in dense fog.

The car Polifka's car crashed into had earlier hit a stalled car on the side of the roadway and was itself stalled, according to the accident report.

A fourth vehicle driven by Augustin Amezcua, also of Daly City, rammed into the rear of Polifka's car shortly after, police said.

Polifka was cited for drunken driving, and Amezcua was arrested and charged with possession of a loaded firearm, police said.

Polifka is being treated for his injuries at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City.

Planner Cites DC Issues

In a speech to the Daly City Rotary Club July 28, Daly City General Plan Consultant Robert Ironside, identified the City's major issues surfacing in the Community Goals and General Plan studies.

The issues were identified during a two-day Goals and General Plan Citizen Workshop held in June.

While many issues have been raised, Ironside indicated that workshop identified the following as primary concerns.

Growth: The workshop participants had no strong suggestions about curbing growth in Daly City, saying instead, that availability of land will determine the future size of Daly City.

Daly City is the second most intensely developed city in the Bay Area, but this doesn't seem to be a concern to the residents.

San Bruno Mountain: Ironside stated that the workshop did not include expression of strong feelings against development, should it occur, not be disruptive to Daly City.

Unincorporated Areas: Respondents in the issues study indicated that the unincorporated areas within and adjacent to Daly City should eventually become part of the city.

Equality of Services: Ironside reported the general feeling was the city should strive to equalize all services both within the existing city boundaries and in future annexations which may occur.

Tax Base: Some diversity of tax base is hoped for by the Citizens Committee. There is need for new non-residential land uses to share the property tax load.

Such new uses could be industrial, professional and general offices, and commercial.

Intensified land use could occur around existing shopping centers and in the redevelopment area.

Increased Density: Ironside reported that the workshop participants also see high density development alone or over commercial and office uses in redevelopment area or shopping centers. Location should be where the best access and transportation either exists or will be developed.

Housing: The citizens want to retain the existing single-family residential areas.

Programs should be developed for neighborhood housing conservation, including public improvements, inspections, technical assistance and youth involvement.

Neighborhood identity must be developed and intensified. The city should

EVAC Earns Citation

Congratulations to EVAC, the Ecumenical Vietnamese Assistance Committee at St. Andrew's in Daly City!

Members of EVAC meet once each month to re-evaluate the direction of the committee, to report on the individual activities of the members and to coordinate appeals for, and the distribution of, gifts from local residents.

In addition to Buchanan, members of the executive board include Mrs. Billie Buchanan, treasurer, Mrs. Louise Courpet, secretary, Mrs. Gloria Duarte, Bernard Maryanski, Mrs. Eva Menard, Mrs. Margaret Prosser, Mrs. Barbara Rowe, Bill Rowe and Sister Jeanenne Weis, the moderator and coordinator of administration, information and communication.

THE COMMITTEE has succeeded in leasing, preparing and furnishing one home for a refugee family; cooperating, with St. Martin's Episcopal church, in providing household items for a second family; lent moral support and provided furniture for a third family, and has been instrumental in obtaining items for other families in the community. To accomplish these things the committee solicited $695, a stove, couches, beds, headboards, television sets, sewing machine, rugs, chairs, tables, pillows, linen, blankets, drapes, kitchenware appliances, garden tools, washing machine, pictures, lamps and have arranged for the use of trucks for pickups and deliveries.

With the initial work now complete, the group is concerned with remaining continually aware of the ongoing needs of the families, locating opportunities for employment, as well as a desk, lamps, sheet music and more kitchenware. A resource file to guide the new arrivals is being compiled for their use and a picnic for all the Vietnamese families in the community is in the planning stage.

Should you be interested in being a part of this program, or if you would like to make a contribution, contact Sister Jeanenne at the St. Andrew's Community Center in the St. Francis Heights section of Daly City.

FLOOD PARK, off Bay Road in Menlo Park, is the site selected for this Sunday's Alumni Association picnic being sponsored by the Alumni Association of Balboa High School in San Francisco.

Activities will begin in the morning and continue until dusk. Softball, volleyball, games, prizes, contests, all are included in the plans for the day.

For information about the picnic call 826-8046 or 467-5021.

A CONTINUING need exists at Mary's Help hospital for short term help in all departments. This is especially true during the vacation period. Former volunteers, or persons who are inter-encourage neighborhood associations.

Transit Circulation: Ironside told the Rotarians that improved east-west roadways are necessary as well as improved local bus services. Congestion around BART and the Cow Palace must be relieved.

Louanne Heath

ested in limited volunteer work, may enjoy being on call for occasional service in a variety of departments at the hospital.

Mrs. Mary McCoy, the director of volunteer services, is the person to contact if you would like more information about temporary volunteer jobs. Call her at 992-4000.

RENEWALS OR NEW memberships continue to be available, throughout the summer, for The Friends of the Daly City Library, according to Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, membership chairman.

Checks, $2 per individual; $3.50 for families; $5 for organizations or $25 or more for patrons, should be sent to the Westlake branch of the Daly City library, 275 Southgate avenue, Daly City, 94015.

Memberships are tax deductible, Mrs. Schwarzbach emphasized.

HOSPITAL EXPANSION

Virginia Stanghellini, president of Mary's Help Hospital Guild, presents a check for $45,000 to Sister Florence Urbine, president of the hospital's Board of Directors. Rex Chase, administrator of the hospital, looks on. The guild has pledged $300,000 toward the hospital's expansion program.

Two Chosen to Represent SSF Teachers at Meeting

Two representatives from the South San Francisco Unified School District have been selected as delegates to the 50th Annual Conference of the California School Employees Association slated for Aug. 2-6 in Sacramento.

They are Art Riccomini, South San Francisco Unified School District custodian, Fox Pidge and Ann Skaggs, South San Francisco Unified School District Administration Office accounting clerk.

Announcement of the selections was made by Art Riccomini, president of South San Francisco CSEA Chapter 197.

An estimated 2,000 delegates and visitors from more than 650 association chapters will take part in the five-day conclave. Art Riccomini said.

The delegates will represent CSEA's 70,000-plus membership, which consists of classified school employees from throughout the state.

Keynote speaker of the event will be Reginald Alleyne, chairman of the Educational Employment Relations Board, which administers the new collective bargaining law for school employees.

Major business activities, including the group's annual election for state officers, will take place at the Sacramento Convention Center.

Present officers, whose current terms expire with the close of the Sacramento meeting, are Bill D. Ellis of Indio, president; Joseph A. Poree of Alameda, first vice president; Pat Smith, Long Beach, second vice president; and Ina Pellizzer, Palo Alto, secretary. Jack Willard, Chula Vista, is junior past president.

The conference delegations will include a large staff contingent from the organization's state headquarters in San Jose, according to Richard C. Bartlett, executive director.

In addition to the election of state officers, events slated during the five-day meeting include selection of the state's top classified employees at a special awards luncheon.

Conference activities were to get under way Aug. 2, with initial registration and a regional representative's dinner.

Formal opening ceremonies were to start at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, highlighted by Alleyne's keynote address.

The annual awards luncheon is on Thursday's schedule and final business sessions are set for Friday morning and afternoon. Events will conclude with a dinner-dance Friday evening.

INTERVIEW WITH THE VAMPIRE, by Anne Rice. 372 pp. New York: Alfred A. Knopf.

Two otherwise perfectly respectable ladies have given birth to monsters. Both ladies have much in common, other than their somewhat imposing offspring. Both were first-time novelists, both young, and both married to poets.

In 1818 Mary Wollstonecraft Godwin Shelley vacationed in a peaceful Swiss mountain valley by the shore of Lake Como and created the Frankenstein monster. She drew on the centuries-old myth of a monster created by man—a myth rooted in the talking statues of Daedalus, the bronze warrior of Knossos, and the golem of the Cabala.

The evolution continued after Mrs. Shelley's time into the pushy robots of RUR and the creatures of countless science fiction movies; (if you can call a giant chicken heart that eats Chicago a form of evolution.)

HOWEVER, OUR LADY Ann Rice, has borrowed the creature from Bram Stoker's 1897 novel, Dracula. She avoids the caricature and comic strip shallowness of the original, and maintains the charm of language that makes Louis ("the Vampire") a true gothic monster.

Interview With the Vampire is a highly readable, tightly worded, and professional effort by a first-time novelist.

Ms. Rice takes us from a hotel room in today's San Francisco to a plantation in 18th Century Louisiana. In a deceptively simple interview we watch Louis' transformation into a vampire and follow him to New Orleans, Eastern Europe, Paris, and San Francisco.

During this 200-year trip he, and we, lose some of our misconceptions of who and what a vampire is.

Louis' contemporaries include a vampire named Lestat who probably would not be on any party giver's "A" list (even if he were human) and Claudia, a golden-haired 5-year old who confirms what many have always suspected about children. (The film rights have been sold to Paramount and the Book-Of-The-Month Club has made this one of its selections.)

It would be unfair to argue the fine points that make this work less than a masterpiece. It is outstandingly enjoyable reading.

The willing suspension of disbelief is the key to enjoyment in any fictional work. Ann Rice has the ability to make that threshold almost invisible. She creates a complete person who has all the characteristics of a predatory beast and somehow is able to retain a form of humanity, intellect, and a twisted compassion for those who people his world.

Ms. Rice has imagination and expects the same quality in her readers.

Planning Assistance To Groups Is Rapped

It cost the San Mateo County Planning Department $168,000 last year to provide staff assistance to 35 citizen participation committees, boards and commissions.

Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe told the County Board of Supervisors during hearings on the proposed 1976-77 county budget Thursday that his staff is "overloaded" by the requirement to provide assistance to such groups.

"The wear and tear on human beings is terrific," Woolfe stated.

It required the equivalent of 7.5 staff positions to provide assistance and advice last year, the planning director said.

"We can't deal with any more committees, commissions or boards," Woolfe said. "We can't do any more."

Woolfe reported that during the first two weeks of July he attended 131 scheduled meetings and conferences, about seven or eight a day (and night), as did some of his staff members.

"It's an incredible, insane, impossible work load," Woolfe told the board.

The planning director, noting past concerns expressed by the board concerning length of time it takes to get out reports from the department, said that when a citizen committee is added to a program, it can lengthen the report time "by a factor of 100 per cent."

Supervisor John M. Ward said that staff assistance to various groups should be interdepartmental, not concentrated on the Planning Department.

Woolfe replied that assistance also is provided by the engineering and environmental health departments on a similar basis.

Supervisor Edward J. Baccocco Jr. was shocked.

"The planning staff is not supposed to be the secretary and staff for citizen groups," he stated. "It is totally wrong, unjustifiable and an enormous waste of time. I don't think the planning staff has to dialog with people all those hours."

Disaster Drill Handles a 'Quake'

By GEORGE GOLDING

In basement "command posts" around San Mateo county this morning, civic officials huddled over disaster reaction plans while a make-believe "earthquake" shook the Peninsula apart.

In two major ways, the activity differed from a real disaster—there was no damage, and people in charge of reacting to the proposed quake knew about it first.

According to the plan, a tremor of 8.3 intensity on the Richter scale rattled across the county at 7:45 a.m., toppling overpasses in Foster City and Belmont, and along Bayshore Freeway at San Francisco International Airport.

The San Mateo-Hayward bridge was ruled "impassable" and the Highway 92 to Half Moon Bay was blocked when overpasses "buckled."

"It looks like we're cut off from the rest of the world," said Half Moon Bay Fire Protection District Chief Larry Centoni.

"The causeway at Crystal Springs gave way, so there's no way we can get over the hill," the chief said.

Centoni was actually inside his office preparing his budget for next year, an eleven-hour task. His assistant, Al Sequera, was in charge of fire operations in that Coastside city.

A spokesman for the Half Moon Bay Fire Department said Highway 92 was "blocked," and El Granada Highlands was "on fire." The department was expecting the "collapse" of numerous greenhouses in the area and impending injuries by flying glass.

To add to that city's woes, a five-car "accident" at Highways 92 and 1 had caused one "death" and four "injuries."

Elsewhere in the county, official responses varied.

In Atherton, the supposed disaster gave City Manager Jack Farrell a reason to be unreachable for questions as to why the Police Chief had suddenly resigned.

In Burlingame, American Red Cross voice Cynthia Freeland said ARC "had one report, of damage in Redwood City, and was awaiting further details and an assessment of what Red Cross can do."

Over San Carlos, Sheriff's Air Squadron pilot Hart Postlethwaite circled in his search and rescue airplane, which "conveniently" had been in the air when the disaster struck.

Postlethwaite, a ham radio operator, was expected to be a vital link

TRAINED

Marine Private Lester E. Payne, son of Calvin Payne of 953 Skyline Drive, Daly City, has completed recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

Muscular Dystrophy Telethon

More than 100 entertainers, 40 Peninsula firefighters and 35 broadcast personnel will participate in the second annual muscular dystrophy telethon at Tanforan Shopping Center during the Labor Day holiday weekend.

Live shows will be videotaped every hour from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 4, 5 and 6 from a stage in the central mall of the shopping center. They will be played back each night over Peninsula Cable TV stations.

A special feature will be the appearance of Jimmy Lyons, founder of the Monterey Jazz Festival, along with several of the festival's featured performers on Monday afternoon, Sept. 6.

Returning acts include Cisco and Boston, and the Family Affair. Disc jockey Al Collins, KMPX, will appear Sept. 6.

All personnel donate their time, and facilities are donated. All money raised goes directly to the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

More than $8,000 was donated through the telethon last year to combat muscular dystrophy.

Restaurant and Florist Combination

LEHR'S GREENHOUSE GARDEN RESTAURANT in San Francisco is the only Bay Area dining spot with a full-time florist shop right on the premises. It is a fascinating shop filled with exotic plants from around the world and many diners stop to browse after enjoying a sumptuous luncheon, dinner or Sunday Ramos Fizz Brunch. Latest addition to the roster of plants is the incredible Cobra Pitcher Plant that lures insects.

ENRICO ROMANO invites you to visit his Rockaway Beach restaurant for hard-to-beat Italian food and pizza variety. Eat-in or take-out is your choice at ROMANO'S. BARNEY'S Club and the SOUTH TAHOE NUGGET are two favorite stops at South Lake Tahoe. Here, you will find "Entertainment The Nevada Way," with both clubs featuring all new equipment. Two restaurants serving breakfast, luncheon and dinner. Parking space galore at the South Tahoe Nugget. Something you should know: If you plan to see a show at HYATT LAKE TAHOE, Incline Village, Nevada, you can expect two complimentary cocktails. See STAN KENTON on August 6. All seats are $8.50. For outstanding French country cooking, try JEAN and NINA CORNILL'S LE POT AU FEU restaurant, located on El Camino Real (near Santa Cruz Avenue) in Menlo Park.

DANCE CONCERT

Stan Kenton, who has strongly influenced modern American music, brings his BIG BAND to Hyatt Lake Tahoe, Incline Village, Nevada for a one-night concert dance, August 6.

The Kite Tree Is Flying High

After being closed for two months for a complete remodeling, THE KITE TREE (formerly the Hamburger Haven), located on the lower level of Tanforan Park Shopping Center (next to Penney's), is bustling with business during breakfast, lunch and dinner. The smiling crew, all handpicked by Manager JIM MC CAULEY, is ready, willing and able to attend to every menu detail. Throughout the restaurant, flags of every description are featured. Menu items are interestingly named to reflect the flag theme. There are hamburgers, sandwiches, salads, omelettes, appetizers, side orders, breakfasts, juices, beverages, desserts and reasonably-priced entrees, which include soup or salad, your choice of home fries or mashed potatoes, with vegetables and a loaf of the Kite Tree's fresh baked bread. So when someone tells you to "go fly a kite," they must mean at The Kite Tree in San Bruno. Newest drink sensation at PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY, at the lower level of the San Francisco Hilton Hotel Tower, Taylor Street entrance, is the Suntory Royal Cloud. It is a smooth blend of equal parts of Suntory Royal Special Reserve Whisky, Galliano and cream.

Maine Lobsters to McLane's Yolanda's

Maine lobsters flown in daily is the new menu tempter at YOLANDA'S CAFE in South San Francisco. Congrats to owner BOB MC LANE for making this a year-round program. Special while they last, a one-half lobster dinner is now $9.50. Family-style dining is featured seven nights a week. Business at the BAYHILL LOUNGE in San Bruno is sailing along in great shape. Food for thought: A well balanced luncheon menu was planned with big eaters in mind. And if you're on a diet, there's something for you, too. Plenty of free parking and easy access to the Freeway. Java Seafood Curry is one of several outstanding specialty items on the dinner menu at Coyote Point's picturesque CASTAWAY. This exotic combination of shrimp, crabmeat and lobster in curry sauce is served on a complete dinner. Oceanside dining and gourmet seafood specialties is the "order of the day" at NICK GUST'S CAPTAIN CHARLES restaurant in Rockaway Beach. Open 4 p.m. to 12 midnight Wednesday through Saturday, 2 to 10 p.m. Sunday.

Helen Trainor Covers The Entire Operation

Enjoyed dining with HELEN TRAINOR, mother of THERESA and MARY LOU of SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant fame. Loveable Helen, who is in full charge of this award-winning dinner house, informed us that FRED FOX, former host in the restaurant, is now with Rector Cadillac. Mary Lou Fox has been vacationing in Florida, and Theresa and Bud Urban are busy with their summer resort duties. Remember, the Villa Hotel will be celebrating its twentieth birthday through August 7. Enjoy a dine-out or stay-over visit at this well established San Mateo hotel. Also, make it a point to visit the Villa Hotel's display at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, which runs through August 7. Whether your luncheon or dinner choice is seafood or a delightful Italian specialty, VINCE'S restaurant in San Mateo has the menu answer. Fresh seafood for the home table is available at the nearby Fish Depot.

Le Pacini

It finally happened. It happened in Pacifica, but it could have been anywhere. A skateboard was the direct cause of a fatality.

The "fatality" was not just a cold noun, but just another statistic. It was Billy Roe, age 14. He was preparing to enter Terra Nova High School in September, and, according to reports, the skateboard ride in the late afternoon was almost an afterthought.

He wasn't a skateboard buff. There was probably just nothing else to do at that particular time. So he hitched a tow on the rear end of a friend's station wagon, went up a steep hill, and never came down. Not alive.

Reading of the tragic accident in news reports, my mind went back to something I had written concerning skateboards about 10 years ago. That was when skateboards were "unsophisticated," literally boards with steel roller skate wheels attached.

Most kids at that time were even making their own. It was unthinkable that ice-fast boards would someday cost as high as $80-$100. Then, the boards were more of a nuisance rather than a hazard.

But still, they were something to be considered, and, I remember thinking, most adults were hoping it was a fad that would just fade away.

It took awhile, but I went back through the old clippings and found that column. It was written on June 30, 1965, and this is what it said:

"What local authorities should do (about skateboards) is learn from history. At one time such sports as baseball and football were thought uncouth, too, until respectable citizens helped to organize and regulate them.

"Instead of making a political football out of a new sport that is apparently now past the 'craze' stage, local officials should join the kids and help them to improve the game — just as stock car racing was improved and refined when people finally realized that kids just aren't going to stop racing cars.

So — like we did with the hotrods — let's take the skateboards off the streets, give the kids places to ride them, organize teams and leagues and competitions, do something other than complaining about a situation that isn't about to go away just because adults say it should. Let's face it. There never has been a generation that hasn't been a little bit mad."

WHILE I REALIZE THAT — based solely on the Olympic behavior — the Russian athletes are disgustingly poor sports, liars and cheaters — this is a plea to feel some compassion for them.

If you have to feel disgust for anybody, feel it for Russia's Olympic officials, possibly for their coaches, certainly for the Kremlin, but not for the athletes. They are put under such tremendous, abnormal pressure by their government to win, that to call them over-achievers would be tantamount to calling Hitler an ambitious sergeant.

Over-achievement doesn't begin to describe the Russian athlete's desperation attempts at winning. Think what they have at stake.

If they lose, they may actually have to go back to work when they return home, lose their two-room apartment and go back to a one-room job with toilet down the hall, turn their Russian jalousy in for a bicycle, get used to the cheap caviar and bathtub vodka.

Look for Boris Onishchenko, that fencer who cheated during the pentathlon, to show up someday — in the background, of course — in a TV sugar cane ad. The Russians don't send their losers to Siberia anymore. They dispatch them to Cuba.

And anybody with any class, as Onishchenko is said to have, would certainly never prefer Cuba to Siberia. I mean, what choice could there possibly be for the well-dressed fencer-person between the Castro muddy-green fatigue garb and the winter wardrobe from "Doctor Zhivago."

THERE'S NO USE DENYING IT. The San Mateo Times lost its semi-annual softball game to the Palo Alto Times at Fitzgerald Field in San Mateo's Central Park recently by the classless score of 13-2.

Of course, I don't have to tell you who started the San Mateo Times' only rally with a searing line drive hit to right field which, had it been lifted slightly, might have knocked the tooth out of The Hungry Tiger head appearing on the sign of the restaurant of that name across the street from the park.

And because I don't have to tell you that, I also don't have to tell you who let a fly ball bounce off his stomach in the second inning to start the big Palo Alto rally.

Now, I don't mean to throw out sour grapes, but I think it should also be mentioned that while the San Mateo Times was so honest with its roster that Monte Dayton, who is in charge of promotions for The Times, started in right field, the Palo Alto Times had so many ringers we were tempted to call it a game of horseshoes and concede.

Here we are, basically a bunch of middle-aged men (the ones who weren't middle-aged LOOKED middle-aged) fighting to keep our pants from falling down, we hop over the foul lines to take the field, and as we look up to check out our opponents, it looks like a raid from the Animal Husbandry College at UC Davis.

MISCELLANY:

Last month we wrote of how, the year Jimmy Foxx hit his 58 homers, two were wiped off the books by rain-outs, which would, of course, have allowed him to tie Babe Ruth's record 60.

What has since been discovered is that when Foxx pulled off his incredible feat in 1932, he hit at least six balls against a screen built atop the left field fence at Shibe Park (the Athletics' home park) which hadn't been there in 1931!

But let's not denigrate what the Babe did. Forgetting Foxx and Maris and Aaron, Ruth still holds two records which may never be broken by a batter with a comparably long career.

Ruth hit the most homeruns per hundred times at bat, career, for both regular season (8.5) and World Series (11.6). That Series average extrapolated, is the equivalent to a 60 homerun season.

tax rate to that of last year.

"You have to bite the bullet," Armstrong stated. Supervisor Jean Fassler suggested that the board have Tarshes request each department whose budget was not reduced to last year's level to cut their budgets by an additional one per cent.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciochio Jr. concurred.

"If we're going to get the job done, it would not be that detrimental," he stated.

Other board members did not express support for the proposal, however.

Royer noted the decrease in state and federal revenues and the mandated increases in Medi-Cal and welfare contributions. He also cited the requirement which entails the county transferring some $3 million to other taxing agencies in interest earnings on amounts invested for such agencies by the county treasurer. These funds amount to 11 or 12 cents on the tax rate, he said.

Evidently the board feels we have done as much as we can, Mrs. Fassler stated.

An entourage of representatives of the Town Hall Association was present to urge further budget cuts as the board began its final day of hearings. Some persons carried hand-lettered signs stating such things as "Our property tax is too damn high, how about yours?"

John Walker, 77, speaking on behalf of the "older citizens of the county the forgotten, the neglected," said such persons "feel you have deserted them."

"You make it impossible to live in our homes," he stated. "We are reduced to tears, shame and disgrace. You must do better than this present tax mess. If you cannot do it, you may not be long in your present jobs."

Bacciochio agreed that the property tax is "grossly cruel and improper."

However, he added the people should bring the matter to the State Legislature. He said that there had been some 100 pieces of property tax relief legislation proposed this year, but no coordinated effort on a single program.

Rerating us is not going to do any good," Bacciochio stated. "It has to come from the state. It is not going to be solved until the State Legislature stops playing games and gets together on a bill."

Ralph Boynton, a member of the Citizens Task Force on County Governmental Operations, and Tarshes became involved in a verbal exchange during consideration of the budget for the county manager's office.

Boynton said the Task Force opposed any net county increase in the manager's budget until a decision is made concerning reorganization of the office.

The Task Force recommended last April that the board receive independent analytical assistance in weighing policy matters which come before it from the manager's office and that the office be reorganized to provide the manager with staff support of a finance manager, a personnel manager and a manager for organization development.

Boynton asserted that it was "obvious" department heads had not cut their own budgets as requested by the board, but that the cuts had been made by analysts in the manager's office.

He proposed the appointment of a three-member "arbitration" board to study reorganization, suggesting one appointment each by the board, the county manager and the Task Force.

Bacciochio objected to Boynton's assuming that the manager's office would have additional employees. The $44,000 cost increase in the office this year provides for salary increases for present employees, he said.

Tarshes responded to Boynton's comments by noting that the Task Force had not spent any time getting his views concerning its recommendations.

"There is a basic point of disagreement in establishing a new operation which would require financing," Tarshes stated.

"Mr. Boynton indicates I'm not following board policy," the county manager said. "This is not a fact. The charter requires me to submit recommendations arrived at in consultation with department heads."

Mrs. Boynton goes from small points to large conclusions because a department head doesn't cut (the budget) immediately. This is not a rehearsed act here. Department heads don't know sometimes what the board wants."

Tarshes went on to say that if Boynton desires a change in the concept that the county manager should submit the budget proposal, "that is what ought to be said."

The largest reduction in tax-raised income Friday was the transfer of $193,830 interest from the county's park and open space fund to the general fund, based on a ruling by the District Attorney's Office that the transfer is legal.

The board voted 4 to 1, with Ward opposed, to allocate the association $35,000. The association had requested the $18,000 increase to finance its Full Employment Now program, which would coordinate the efforts of public and private agencies to attract investment capital to the county in an attempt to meet the needs of the unemployed and the under-employees.

Shopping Center Showdown Expected

The showdown between the developers of a proposed South San Francisco shopping center and residents protesting the plan is expected at a special City Council meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

For more than two years, Sutter Hill, Ltd. of Palo Alto has been trying to get the city's permission to build a neighborhood shopping center at the southwest corner of Westborough Boulevard and El Camino Real.

The proposed shopping center will house a Payless Drug Store and Lucky's supermarket along with the expansion of the New Southern Restaurant.

But residents of the nearby Southwood neighborhood, particularly the Club View Apartments which overlook the site, have vehemently protested.

They have said the project will increase traffic, including that of delivery trucks, through their residential neighborhood.

And merchants and residents alike have said the shopping center will have an adverse economic impact on the city. A petition signed by 99 merchants was presented in May to the Planning Commission protesting the plan.

Merchant Clifford Farber said that while the center is projected to produce $27,000 a year in sales tax revenue for the city, at least as much revenue will be lost by the closure of smaller surrounding stores which have been in the city for years.

On the other hand, Mike Couch, representing Sutter Hill, said his firm believes the site is an excellent one for their plan.

They have disputed the residents' and merchants' claims.

The Sutter Hill staff has been working with city staff to alleviate the possible traffic problems which might occur in Southwood.

The Planning Commission in May approved the shopping center 6-1, after approving a general plan amendment, an environmental impact report and rezoning of the property from unclassified to neighborhood commercial.

Only Commissioner Roberto Teglia voted against the proposal.

However, residents immediately appealed to the City Council, which must make up its own mind on all the issues.

Fire Briefly Threatens Home

Pacific firemen quickly extinguished a three-acre grass fire in the Grand Teton-Park Pacifica area at about 4 p.m. Thursday.

The fire, which for a time threatened five homes in the hilly area, was believed to have been started by children playing with matches, a fire department spokesman said.

Metric

toes instead of the familiar 10-pound bag.

Handymen are afraid they'll have to throw out half their tools.

And 2x4's might become 50x100's (millimeters).

Will it still be possible to "inch" your way to safety?

Who will be able to groan about the heat on a 40-degree Celsius day that feels like 104?

Will the metric system set meter in my front door? Will it tamper with football? And what about John Wayne's 38-liter hat? Or Kilometers Standish?

Relax, says Meyers:

"The rule of reason applies individually," he said. "You'll make the change gradually. It will only mean that certain small tools will need to be changed. I don't think the football field will change."

For most people, all they will have to know is the meter, the liter and the gram. Acceptance will take 15 to 20 years. Some people may never accept it.

Once people get used to it, they will discover that the metric system makes comparison shopping easier. Nuts and bolts inventories can be cut by a third, and you'll have better luck finding what you need at the hardware store.

Cooks who use metric recipes may want to purchase metric measuring cups and a scale. They'll find it easier to divide recipes, Meyers said.

Meyers also says the conversion will lead to uniformity in clothing sizes, instead of the wide fluctuation between cheap and expensive clothes.

At any rate, we might as well get used to the metric system — we'll have to.

Already Chevrolet is marketing a metric Chevette. Seamstresses will notice that new patterns list measurements in both metric and English numbers. More and more products are being sold with both figures. Television stations are giving temperatures in Celsius and Fahrenheit numbers.

Parents will be asked to help their children do homework — in metric. The Laguna Salada School District, for example, just received a $6,900 grant to teach teachers how to teach the metric system.

Companies such as Seven-Up are incorporating introduction of the metric system into their regular advertising campaigns. With the new liter bottles, consumers can pick up bookmarks, calendars, conversion aids and cost-percentage comparators.

Meyers advises consumer groups to be on the alert for price increases being sneaked through during the conversion.

"Consumer groups definitely should be watchdogs if merchants add to their prices," he said. "Merchants should either add the price on before they convert or after. People are too prone to blame increases on going metric."

That touches a sore point with proponents of the metric system. Small businessmen now, and tool and dye makers until they were won over, insist that the changeover will cost too much.

But the Metric Information Office of the National Bureau of Standards downplays the cost. For an industry like W.F. Rockwell, for example, they say the cost will be about 1 percent of one year's sales.

But for small businesses, it will mean buying things like new scales, posting conspicuous conversion charts and re-educating salesmen and customers.

The average person might wish to buy a metric thermometer, scale, ruler and conversion scale. He might want to buy a stick-on kilometer converter for his speedometer. Other than that, costs will be minimal, Meyers said.

Nine in Running For Seat

Nine persons have been named finalists to fill a vacancy on the San Mateo County Community College District.

The vacancy will occur Sept. 1 with the announced resignation of trustee Francis W. Pearson Jr., of Redwood City.

Pearson resigned rather than comply with financial disclosure required of school board members required by state law.

Pearson, a certified public accountant, believes the law would conflict client protection ethics of his profession.

Named finalists were: • Ralph E. Boynton of Menlo Park, an executive consultant and retired Bank of America vice president.

• George R. Concannon of Woodside, a real estate developer and former corporate vice president of Kaiser Industries.

• Edward S. Dikun of Menlo Park, a College of San Mateo graduate and senior computer designer for Varian Associates of Palo Alto.

• Ronald G. Fick of Atherton, a Wells Fargo Bank vice president and trust officer and former trustee of the San Mateo City School District.

• Elio A. Fontana of Colma, president of a monument manufacturing firm and a former board trustee.

• Etta R. Hollins, coordinator of the federally funded Emergency School Aid Act for the Ravenswood City School District.

• Franklin D. Riller M.D. of San Bruno, chief of staff and assistant chief of surgery at the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in San Francisco.

• James G. Rudolph of Menlo Park, vice president of Gnostic Concepts in that city.

• Edward C. Vifian of Moss Beach, a supervising examiner of trust departments for the U.S. Treasury Department.

The nine finalists were chosen by board members from among 25 county residents who declared interest.

Interviews will be conducted at a public meeting scheduled for 3 p.m. next Thursday at the CSM administration building, and a selection must be made by Aug. 15.

Pearson's term will expire in March of 1977.

Pair Held In Coast Abduction

Two men were arrested early Tuesday morning after they abducted a 15-year-old Moss Beach girl as she walked along a street near her home, sheriff's deputies reported.

The pair was not immediately identified.

According to deputies a companion of the girl escaped and ran to her home to call police.

A broadcast was put out for two men, one bald and the other with a mustache and dressed in an orange shirt.

They were reported to be driving a 1972 or 1973 blue two-door sedan with a vinyl top. Pacifica police stopped the car with one of the men inside about two hours later.

Deputies were to have reported to have captured the second with man the girl, who was reported to have been unarmed, later. The men were taken to the Half Moon Bay police station and then brought back to the county jail in Redwood City.

Dog Case Publicity Basis for Complaint

Attorney Craig Collins charged Thursday that publicity last week concerning a man charged with 109 counts of animal neglect makes it impossible for his own client to get a fair trial.

Collins asked that the trial of Rudolf Christians of Brisbane — former owner of the Canine Protection Agency — be thrown out of court.

His request was denied by Judge Charles Becker in North County Municipal Court.

Christians is charged with 23 violations of penal and health and safety codes relating to the care of the dogs in his kennel.

The Peninsula Humane Society raided his kennel at 505 Tunnel Road Jan. 8, seizing more than 60 guard dogs owned by Christians.

He is being charged with the neglect of 18 of them. Defense attorney Collins was referring to an article in a newspaper July 28 and to late night television coverage of the arrest July 27 of James Daniel of San Francisco.

Daniel was charged with 109 various counts of animal neglect after the Peninsula Humane Society impounded 11 horses and 11 dogs kept in a shed at his home.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Collins claimed before the judge that the humane society had planned the raid this week to coincide with Christians' trial.

"To and behold the Peninsula Humane Society are our heroes again," Collins said. "It's highly extraordinary that they came out with this when they did."

Judge Becker disagreed, saying the jury had already received instructions to determine the outcome of Christians' trial on its own merits and not be influenced by other events.

"Heroes or bastards, if they (the humane society) are wrong, they will be found to be wrong," Judge Becker said. "If they are right, they won't be heroes."

Judge Becker pointed out that people are arrested every day for many types of offenses and the arrests are publicized in the papers. They do not, he said, prejudice other cases on trial for similar offenses.

Collins asked that he be permitted to put Daniel on the stand, saying he wanted to show that the manner in which Daniel was arrested by the humane society made the entire procedure of the animal protection agency questionable.

When the jury returned, Judge Becker again instructed them to disregard media coverage of other arrests by the Peninsula Humane Society.

Before the jury was selected last week, Collins had asked that they be sequestered, but his request was denied.

With only one judge available in the Northern Court, Christians' trial has been interrupted several times to enable Judge Becker to handle other matters.

The trial began Jan. 22. Collins began questioning his own witnesses last week. Thursday, Linda Christians, the defendant's wife, testified that her husband was aware some of the guard dogs had mange.

She said that the effected dogs were being treated but the medicine wasn't working.

Retired SSF Employees Seek Health Benefits

Three South San Franciscans are asking the City Council to provide health care benefits for all retired employees of the city — past, present and future.

Joseph Neville, Elizabeth Emerson and Gildo Rozzi recently wrote a letter to the council citing provisions of the Meyers-Geddes Bill passed by the state legislature in 1961.

It allows public agencies to contact with the Public Employees Retirement System (PERS) to provide health benefits for all retired employees.

The three retired employees say the city's former workers have been neglected.

There are about 40 living retired employees at this time.

"People retired from the city have been bypassed the last 10 or 12 years," said Neville, who has been retired 10 years.

"Somebody has to speak for them," he said. "They don't have the right to anything."

Assistant Personnel Officer Peter Milovich said he doubts that the city could afford to extend health care benefits to retired employees.

Although only 40 persons would be affected now, the number could increase greatly over the years.

"Every employee retires and before you know it we have a New York situation," he said. He was referring to spiraling costs in which eventually forced New York into near-bankruptcy.

"In order to effectively do it, it's going to cost money," he said. "It's a large sum of money that might not be available to use for current programs or projects in the city."

Milovich said police employees negotiated for and obtained health care benefits for retired department employees in 1975. It was not a retroactive plan for those who have already retired.

The International Association of Firefighters, Local 1507, also requested health care benefits for retired firefighters in its negotiations this year.

However, Milovich said the council turned down that request because the plan proposed by Local 1507 was much more costly than the plan the police officers agreed to.

Milovich said the police officers plan costs the city $35 a month for each employee. The city's contribution to the health plan for working employees is substantially higher, $70.40 a month.

He said that employees should have negotiated for the health care benefits before their retirement.

"As it stands now, they're subject to negotiations at the meat-and-confer process," Milovich said.

The personnel officer has told the retired employees that if the council does desire to include retired employees in the memorandum of understanding covering such provisions, it must be done in the next round of bargaining sessions, which is not until 1978.

He also noted that the council has not granted retroactive benefits to previous employees.

A group of retired employees led by former police chief Louis Belloni and retired employee Elizabeth Emerson made the same request of the council in 1968.

The request apparently was shelved, along with a petition signed by 25 retired employees.

Neville said several retired employees asked him a few months ago to investigate the possibility of reviewing the push for benefits.

Mrs. Emerson, retired 20 years, said the group of employees plans to pursue benefits more diligently this time.

"If they can afford to do every other thing, they can afford to do this for us," Mrs. Emerson said.

She said they hope to determine if the council is in sympathy with their request.

The retired employees, who do not have a formal association, will meet and discuss their strategy, she said.

Rozzi said rising costs of health care and other necessities hurt retired persons the most.

"With everything going up in cost, retired persons just can't handle it," said Rozzi, who has been retired for 10 years.

Milovich is skeptical.

"My understanding is that under the present circumstances, the city would have a rough enough time balancing the budget without retirement benefits," he said.
